

WORLD CONGRESS ON NANOMEDICINE 2026

World Congress on Nano Medicine 2026, where the Future of Healthcare begins at the Nanoscale, scheduled from 27-30 September 2026 at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi, India

The Institute of Nano Medical Sciences (INMS), Faculty of Medical Sciences, University of Delhi, is organising the World Congress on Nano Medicine 2026, Nanomedicine, where the Future of Healthcare begins at the Nanoscale, scheduled from 27-30 September 2026 at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi, India. CLICK HERE - WCN 2026 Brochure

2. The World Congress on Nano Medicine 2026 (WCN-2026) is being organized under the umbrella of the International Society of Nano Medical Sciences (ISNS) and the International Society for Nano Medicine (ISNM), in collaboration with leading academic institutions, government funding agencies—including the Department of Science and Technology (DST), Department of Biotechnology (DBT), Anusandhan National Research Foundation (ANRF), Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), and Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR)—as well as the pharmaceutical industry. For more information, visit <https://wcn2026.in/index.html>

3. WCN - 2026 will bring together over 2000 participants including eminent scientists and young researchers to share knowledge, innovations, and advancements in Nano Medicine. University of Delhi have invited esteemed speakers including Nobel Laureates and distinguished scientists from all over the world. Prof. Roger D Kornberg, Nobel Laureate, Stanford University, USA will be the Chairman of the World Congress 2026 and Prof. TMS Chang, FRS (Canada), McGill University will be the Honorary President of this world congress.

4. Hon'ble Droupadi Murmu, President of India will inaugurate this World Congress and INMS is organizing the World Congress under the leadership of Prof. Yogesh Singh, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, University of Delhi. The organisers have also requested the Science & technology for the Society forum (STS Forum) Japan, World Health Organization (WHO), American Chemical Society (ACS), and Royal Society of Chemistry (RSC) to actively participate in this World Congress on Nano Medicine.

5. Thematic Areas of WCN 2026

- Targeted drug delivery
- Nanoparticles for diagnostics
- Nanomedicine in cancer treatment
- Regenerative nanomedicine
- Precision Nanomedicine
- Nanobiophotonics
- AI in Nanomedicine
- nano Biosensor and medical devices
- Law and Nanomedicine
- Radiation Nanomedicine and development of Nasal Spray for rapid strokes

6. Registration Process for WCN – 2026: Institute of Nano Medical Sciences (INMS), University of Delhi, invites academicians, researchers, scholars, and professionals to submit their abstract/ full length article in the thematic areas of the World Congress on Nanomedicine 2026 (WCN 2026). Proceedings to be published in International Journal of Cell and Tissue Engineering, Artificial Cells and Regenerative Medicine; International Journal of Translational Science; and other journals of repute.
